Emory’s doctoral program in Economics provides a highly focused and intense education to a select group of graduate students.

ADVANTAGES OF A PhD AT EMORY

FACULTY
- Distinguished faculty eager to mentor students
- Close faculty-student research collaborations
- Extensive job market preparation

SIZE AND COLLEGIALITY
- Low student-to-faculty ratio with small interactive classes
- Wide range of scholarly activities inside and outside the classroom

STRATEGIC LOCATION
- Internships at the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta
- Access to proprietary data at the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta and Centers for Disease Control

FINANCIAL
- Annual stipend of $36,376 plus full tuition scholarship and 100% health insurance subsidy
- No stipend-related service requirements for the first year to allow maximum focus on coursework
- Up to $7,500 to support research & additional training

FOCUS
- Training in the most current and advanced quantitative methods, critical to the focus research of:
  - Macroeconomics
  - Microeconomics
  - Health Economics
  - Econometrics
- Extensive training in modern methods of teaching and effective communication, grant writing and professionalization

Applications are due January 1
For more information, please visit economics.emory.edu/home/graduate/apply-to-phd

/emory-university-department-of-economics
@EmoryEconomics
/EmoryEconomics
/econemory/
FOCUS RESEARCH AREAS

MACROECONOMICS
- Help shape monetary policy at national and global levels
- Analyze micro data to understand macro aggregates
- Prominent faculty with close ties to the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta

HEALTH/APPLIED MICROECONOMICS
- Faculty expertise in health care markets, health policy, insurance markets, industrial organization, and labor economics
- Collaborations with experts at Rollins School of Public Health and the Centers for Disease Control

ECONOMETRICS
- Rigorous training in quantitative methods
- Learn and apply data-driven, modern approaches to empirical research
- Apply machine learning data analysis to critical issues

Requests for Additional Information:
Recruitment and Admissions
James T. Laney School of Graduate Studies
209 Administration Building
201 Dowman Drive
Atlanta, GA 30322
(404) 727-6385
econgrad@emory.edu
graduateschool.emory.edu
economics.emory.edu