Associate Professor, the University of Leeds. She is Director of the Timescapes Archive, Editor-in-Chief of the flagship journal Sociological Research Online, and Senior Fellow of the National Centre for Research Methods (NCRM) responsible for commissioning methods training in Qualitative Longitudinal and Qualitative Secondary Analysis methods for all UK social scientists. During the last twenty years, her research funding has been from flagship Economic and Social Research Council methods programs, as well as more substantively focused funding, including from Cancer Research UK. She is internationally recognized for innovation in qualitative longitudinal methods and an international leader in new methods of Qualitative Secondary Analysis. She continues to lead research on the longitudinal dynamics of poverty, health, and addiction.
